

Fitzharrys School

Aspiration | Opportunity | Integrity

Welcome to Fitzharrys School

I am proud to be Headteacher of Fitzharrys School. It is an excellent school where students thrive and succeed. Key to this success is our ethos, which runs through the education our students receive:

Aspiration, Opportunity, Integrity

Aspiration – We want each student and member of our community to achieve what they are capable of. This means aiming for their very best in every lesson and every opportunity. Staff work hard to ensure students know what they can achieve, providing the support and expertise to help them meet their goals. Our focus on a vibrant and engaging curriculum, allied with nuanced support, enables our students to aim high and achieve great things.

Opportunity – To hit their high aspirations our students need opportunities. This comes in 3 clear forms: in the classroom, super curricular, and extra-curricular. Students' primary opportunity is through their engagement with, and learning from, their lessons. This learning allows them to access knowledge, skills and perspectives that help them achieve their potential. Our super curricular activities allow subjects to enhance what is taught in the classroom with events, trips and activities that secure their understanding in different contexts. These, alongside our extra-curricular activities, such as Duke of Edinburgh awards and school performances, provide opportunities that educate, widen horizons, and build self-confidence.

Integrity – We want every student to develop and build this key characteristic whilst at Fitzharrys. Trust, decency, sincerity, and truthfulness are core values not just for life at Fitzharrys, but also for life in our community and for when our students leave school. Not only do our staff model this key quality, but they also work with our students to ingrain integrity in how they approach every task, encounter, and challenge they face.

These values are embodied by our staff: our teachers are passionate experts who deliver high quality lessons; our pastoral team are caring and vigilant in their work with Fitzharrys students, all ably supported by our superb support staff colleagues.

We have created a warm and positive learning environment which is rooted in high expectations. This is evident in our consistently positive examination outcomes, glowing Ofsted report, good attendance, strong behaviour for learning, and the feedback we receive from current students and their parents.

I recommend viewing our website and social media to get a sense of what our students achieve and the opportunities they have; we are incredibly proud of what our students accomplish from year 7 through to year 13.

The best way to gain further understanding of Fitzharrys is by coming to visit us. Meeting our staff and students will give you a real insight into what our great school has to offer. Please do contact us to book an appointment. We look forward to meeting you soon.

Best wishes,
Will Speke
Headteacher

Fitzharrys School is part of the ALT Trust

Fitzharrys School is proud to be part of the ALT Trust, whose schools are rooted in local communities. Our vision is a bold one:

"To nurture curiosity and fuel a passion for learning – shaping confident individuals and resilient communities, stronger together and ambitious for the future."

At ALT Trust, we aim for everything we do to be grounded in our core values: Quality – Opportunity – Collaboration – Ambition – Community. Whilst our core purpose is the same in all our schools, we acknowledge and celebrate the differences and uniqueness in each school's community.

We are ambitious for every child and put inclusion at the heart of our practice. We believe that collaborating with and learning from others is crucial to the success of our schools and having both primary and secondary schools is an enormous asset, as it enables us to share our expertise and knowledge, learning from each other to improve the education of children from 3 to 18. Finally, we operate on the basis of trust and respect, between all members of our Trust community.

The strength of partnership and teamworking is core to the way we aim to work. It is vital to all of us in the Trust that our schools are all schools that we would be delighted for our own children to attend. At the heart of that, we put our staff first, as this means that we are putting children and young people first. That is because having great teachers in front of every class, led by great leaders, and supported by great support staff, is critical to achieving the best outcomes for every child.

As Director of Education at ALT Trust, I am privileged to see first-hand the quality work that Fitzharrys School provides day in and day out for its young people. It is a school that is committed to providing the very best opportunities – the chance to experience new things – in sport, music, science, languages, computing, and the arts; through trips and visits delivered by authors, engineers, university lecturers, employers, actors, musicians, politicians – authentic learning experiences. As a result of this broad, balanced, rich curriculum offer, Fitzharrys School prepares its young people exceptionally well for their next steps in life's journey. Fitzharrys' values of aspiration, opportunity and integrity are central to its work and the young people leave school well prepared to take their place in society as active, caring, compassionate and understanding citizens in the 21st century.

Aspiration

We want our students to achieve their very best, to develop a wide range of skills and in-depth understanding. Our strong results, high attendance, and positive working atmosphere show the impact of our collective ambition.

We have high aspirations for our pupils, and this means high expectations and standards. Our focus is on students developing academically and as positive participants in the community. Attendance levels at Fitzharrys are high because students enjoy coming to school. Our students are encouraged to aim for 100% attendance as there is a clear link between excellent attendance and high achievement. Students come in each day with a positive approach to learning. They are keen to participate in lessons and set challenging goals for growth.

'I am very impressed by the quality and attentiveness of the teachers. My son has made great progress.'

Parent

Our teachers are passionate about their subjects and teach our students with expert knowledge and understanding. Fitzharrys staff consistently share this love of their subjects and work hard to ensure students reach their potential. Students share this desire to learn, improve and succeed, creating a culture where learning is at the heart of what we do.

At Fitzharrys, we praise and reward students, not only academically but across every area of learning and personal development. This is of vital importance in growing each student's confidence in their own abilities and encouraging further success.

We are proud of our students and recognise the effort and progress they make across all areas of school life in a variety of ways. These include special Recognition assemblies; giving out Fitzharrys' School Awards, which are based on our school values of Aspiration, Opportunity, and Integrity; and Subject Awards, which reward exceptional performance.

We also give House points and 'praise postcards' to students to ensure they are rewarded for effort and achievement in and out of class, as well as for contribution to the community and participation in events. Our five Houses are a well-established part of life at Fitzharrys, promoting leadership, friendly competition and community, with every student, staff member and governor belonging to either Dragon, Griffin, Pegasus, Phoenix, or Valkyrie. Sports Day, inter-House competitions and termly House assemblies are focal points for our House system.

'Teachers have strong subject knowledge. They ask skilful questions and plan activities which capture pupils' interest and curiosity.'

At Fitzharrys, we believe that students should be given every chance to foster a life-long passion and deep understanding of every school subject they are taught.

We feel that a broad and balanced curriculum with clear intent and precise implementation will feed their aspirations and lead to excellent outcomes for all.

Students begin their time at Fitzharrys with a three-year Key Stage 3, where they are taught a broad range of subjects. They spend significant time learning the core subjects of English, Mathematics, and Science. The wider curriculum includes opportunities for theory, practical and performance-based experiences through Art, Computer Science, Design & Technology, Drama, Food & Nutrition, French, Geography, History, Mandarin, Music, Philosophy & Ethics, Physical Education, and Spanish.

Our comprehensive Personal, Social, Health and Economic (PSHE) education programme aims to help improve the ways our students learn, relate to others, grow socially, choose healthy lifestyles, and become independent citizens playing a positive role in society. Alongside this, our curriculum incorporates a series of Wider Learning events in which students develop confidence, leadership, independence, and teamwork.

We regularly review and update the curriculum to meet the needs of our students. Where appropriate, we adapt our provision for individual pupils (e.g. for those with SEND) to meet their needs while maintaining ambition and preparing them for their next steps.

‘The school has made significant improvements over the last few years – it is a great place to learn.’

Parent

We believe that continuing with these subjects for three years, before narrowing their subject choices for Key Stage 4, allows students to truly experience and value all subjects regardless of previous learning.

Students will go through a comprehensive and supportive Options process in year 9 where they will be able to explore interests, careers, and further study choices before making well-informed decisions. Communication is key, so we work with students, families and the staff that know them best to ensure they make the best selections for a positive and successful future.

Our Key Stage 4 students are encouraged to select qualifications with academic breadth. This means they follow a core offer of English, Maths, Science, and a Humanities subject, with most students also opting to study a Language and an Arts subject, to develop essential knowledge and skills. Students can then specialise within a diverse range of subjects based on their interests, enthusiasms, and experiences at Key Stage 3. Subjects currently on offer include Art & Design, Business Studies, Computer Science, Design & Technology, Food & Nutrition, French, Geography, History, Music, Performing Arts, Physical Education, Religious Studies, Sociology, Spanish, and Statistics. We also maintain opportunities for learning outside of the classroom so that students have access to subjects for which they have not opted.

Fitzharrys is proud to be a fully inclusive school, valuing and celebrating the diversity of all our young people. We aim to enable every student to achieve their full potential and have successfully developed cultures, policies, and practices that include all learners.

Opportunity

Fitzharrys students receive an exciting and enriching education both in the classroom and beyond.

From year 7 to year 13, students will enjoy a wide range of trips, visits, events, workshops, clubs and experiences that help bring concepts and learning to life. These opportunities positively contribute to our students' personal development and wider outlook on the world around them.

At Key Stage 3, all students participate in two core opportunity trips per year, including theatre and gallery visits, historic sites, and living history museums. Residential trips are regular highlights, including our biannual European ski trip, sports tour of the Netherlands, London culture visit, and tour of the Battlefields. These opportunities are open for all students, with a special fund for those with financial difficulties.

A key trip and formative experience for Fitzharrys students is our year 7 annual camp held at Youlbury. Students' confidence and teamwork blossom as they conquer challenges including the 3G swing, archery, abseiling, Jacob's ladder, fencing and so much more. It is an impressive showcase of all the great qualities Fitzharrys students develop during their first year. Year 7 camp happens during Fitzactive Week, our annual extra-curricular event in which year 8 and 9 students participate in further horizon-expanding activities, such as running a wellbeing café, rewilding projects, creating murals, and upcycling.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award (DofE) inspires and enables our students to embark on a journey, push personal boundaries and gain wonderful, lifeshaping experiences along with a great sense of achievement. Fitzharrys students have the opportunity to take part in Bronze, Silver, and Gold awards. The highlight for many is the camping and expedition elements at stunning locations such as the Ridgeway, Brecon Beacons, and the Peak District.

Recent Wider Learning events have seen students mark Chinese New Year by participating in the traditional dragon dance, while the cast and crew of our annual whole school musical experience the camaraderie of theatre culture.

Fitzharrys School offers students a extensive variety of extra-curricular clubs and activities at lunchtimes and after school. Whether students want to join one of our many sports teams, love board games, acting, singing, have green fingers or love experimenting in science, there will be something to suit everyone. Students are also encouraged to lead the way in the creation of new clubs; there is always something new to try!

Through activities and events such as these, Fitzharrys develops the whole student, supporting the great teaching and learning taking place in every lesson.

'My daughter loved year 7 camp. It was a really formative experience. She came home brimming with confidence.'

‘Both our children settled in quickly and have had numerous opportunities to get involved with various extra-curricular activities and enjoy school.’

We have well-established partnerships with Abingdon School, Radley College, St Helen and St Katharine, and other local secondaries as part of the OX14 Learning Partnership, where students work together and mentor each other. Our students regularly take part in collaborative projects in Science, English, Maths, Geography, PE, Drama, and Languages. This has led to students presenting Science projects at the Royal Society and performing Shakespeare as part of the Shakespeare Schools Festival. Oxbridge application training, lectures and science events occur throughout the year.

Fitzharrys students excel in national and international competitions, including the UK Maths Challenge, and the Magistrates' Court Mock Trial Competition. Our Engineering Club students designed and built an electric Go Kart which they raced in the national Formula 24 Greenpower Challenge. Students in our Eco Club have won several prizes for their gardening produce at the Abingdon Horticultural Society Show, and our Young Researchers group have presented at conferences at Oxford University and in London regarding reducing our carbon footprint.

We provide fantastic arts opportunities as we know a strong arts education is a vital key to developing creativity and critical thinking skills. Students attend theatre performances, and our young performers and musicians play in theatres and concert halls in Oxfordshire and beyond. Our budding filmmakers have premiered their debut films at the Amey Theatre, working with the Abingdon Film Academy. Avid readers enjoy participating in the Carnegie Book Awards Shadowing programme with peers from other senior schools in Abingdon.

Fitzharrys students also excel in the sporting arena, and we encourage sporting success by supporting students who play or perform at county, national and international level, including in Athletics, Football, Rugby, Swimming, and Tennis. Fitzharrys students have had the opportunity to visit Wembley Stadium to see the women's FA Cup final, be trained by England netballers, and regularly train and support each other in after school clubs.

'Leaders' ambitions inspire staff to create the best possible provision for all pupils.'

Integrity

At Fitzharrys, we play an important role in every student's personal development. We are helping prepare young adults who will make significant contributions to the community. Integrity is a key quality that we work with our students to develop and enhance.

We know that interpersonal skills and wider behaviours play a key role in employment, further training, and wider life. If our students can be honest, sincere, trustworthy, and show integrity in their actions, then they can succeed as they move forward. All our staff look to develop this key quality and support students in their personal development. We are proud of the approach our staff take to helping our young people. They work in a variety of ways to enhance their skills, resilience, and self-belief. It is a privilege to see our students grow these key qualities while at Fitzharrys.

Our Pastoral team look after the physical and emotional welfare of our students, ensuring all children feel safe, happy, involved in the school community, and able to perform to their full potential. The form tutor is the first port of call for any worries. We know that communication between school and home is vitally important, so we hold a 'Meet the Tutor' evening early in year 7 to build those relationships. Tutors are supported by Heads of Year, Deputy Heads of Year, and by our Assistant Head, Behaviour & Attendance.

Our unique team of Student Wellbeing Managers (SWMs) are on hand to help with any difficulties and for emotional support. Attached to particular year groups, this team has a wide variety of skills and experiences that make them ideally suited to resolving issues and ensuring that children always have a supportive adult that they can talk to. The team are greatly valued by students, staff, and parents alike. They make a significant contribution to the happiness and success of all the students in their care.

All teachers at Fitzharrys are passionate about supporting and challenging every student in their learning. They use a range of strategies to ensure no-one is left behind. Our comprehensive staff development programme gives teachers and teaching assistants the skills and understanding to empower Fitzharrys pupils.

Fitzharrys' pastoral care includes a focus on positive mental health and wellbeing. We know that adolescence can be a challenging time with lots of pressures from social media and other sources. We help our students develop strength, resilience, confidence, and healthy attitudes, teaching them to behave with integrity.

Our focus on integrity ensures students leave Fitzharrys as empathetic and well-rounded members of the community, confident in their own abilities and ready to contribute positively to whatever they do next.

'We are impressed with how quickly and compassionately any issues have been dealt with since our daughter started at Fitzharrys.'

Parent

'Pupils' relationships with staff are built on mutual respect. They know that staff have their best interests at heart and as such they feel safe, happy, and cared for.'

Next Steps

Exploring careers and post-16 courses

Fitzharrys fosters the development of self-motivation, communication skills, problem-solving abilities and creative enterprise that will benefit and prepare students for their next steps in life.

Fitzharrys School is fully committed to ensuring that all our students acquire the skills, knowledge, and attitudes to manage their learning and career aspirations, and to helping them become independent and productive adults who can achieve their full potential.

Through a planned programme of activities including Careers Education, Information, Advice and Guidance (CEIAG), and Employability Skills, Fitzharrys School seeks to help all students take their place as qualified and responsible adults within society.

Careers-related activities, CV and application writing, and interview practice are features of our personal development curriculum. During Key Stage 3, students meet employers and professionals from a wide range of sectors to broaden their knowledge of the wealth of career opportunities they can aspire to in their future working lives. This includes participating in workshops and activities run in school by visiting specialists from a variety of professions, careers fairs, and off-site enrichment visits to industry hotspots. These events bring our students additional insight into the world of work, and encourage the development of high aspirations.

All students are prepared for and take part in work experience in year 10. They play an integral role in the process, from identifying possible placements to liaising with employers. Our students return with a fresh perspective on the workplace.

Every year 11 student has a careers interview with an independent specialist advisor. They also receive information and guidance about pathways leading into our sixth form, onto a college course, or into an apprenticeship.

Our Sixth Form

We want our students to be ambitious in their career choices. JMF6 Abingdon – our joint Sixth Form with John Mason School – offers specialist teaching, high-quality careers advice, a caring and knowledgeable pastoral support team, and many opportunities and experiences designed to help students realise all of their aspirations.

We are very proud to provide a fantastic post-16 experience in JMF6. We pride ourselves on being a friendly and inclusive community. Our ethos is based on the principle that each student is an individual who is valued and whose talents are recognised and celebrated. This principle drives our tutorial programme to support students academically and personally, helping them achieve their goals.

Students at JMF6 can pick from a great range of around 30 subjects to study. They also enjoy a comprehensive programme of super-curricular and enrichment activities to develop collaborative and leadership skills including a range of academic and career-focused experiences. All students can participate in the Duke of Edinburgh Gold Award and work towards the valued Extended Project Qualification.

Our students have a strong track record of progressing on to established universities, including Oxbridge, as well as to professional apprenticeships.

Full details on JMF6, including links to an individual prospectus, list of available courses, and admissions guidance, can be found on our school website.

Joining Fitzharrys

Whether you are moving up from primary school or considering an in-year transition, as well as feeling excited, it is perfectly natural to feel a little nervous. Here at Fitzharrys, we have a fantastic transition programme to make settling in simple and ensure that you are happy and confident about joining your great new school.

If you are moving up from primary school, you will receive a welcome letter from Fitzharrys as soon as your place is confirmed. This will let you know about some of the things you can look forward to before you start in September.

Our Headteacher and Head of Year 7 will visit year 6 students at primary school. This is an opportunity to get to know you. It also helps us to organise the Houses and tutor groups so we can make sure you will have some friends nearby right from the very start of your time at Fitzharrys. You can ask us any questions you want, and we will do all we can to make sure that you are feeling really positive about the adventure ahead of you.

Along with your parents and carers, you will be invited to attend an Information Evening at Fitzharrys School in the spring term. At this event, key staff will give a presentation including all that you need to know about our transition process, and they will be on hand to answer any questions. Transition Packs, which include our application form and all other paperwork you may need, are given out at your Information Evening.

Everyone comes to Fitzharrys for Induction Day in June where you will start to find your way around the school, make new friends and meet our student Buddies:

friendly faces who will be there to support you when you start secondary school. In the evening, you are welcome to come back with parents and carers to share all that you have done earlier in the day. Some of you will be able to visit on additional days to help you feel extra confident about moving up to Fitzharrys.

All of this means that, come September, you will be ready to make a great start in your new school, feeling part of Fitzharrys from the very beginning and ready to make the most of all the fantastic opportunities that lie ahead.

Older students who may be moving into the area or wish to join Fitzharrys when the academic year has already started are very welcome to visit our school. You will have a tour with some of our students from your year group and have the chance to meet with a member of the Senior Leadership Team to answer any questions. If you do join us, you will be assigned a tutor group and a student Buddy who will be on hand to help you out in those first few weeks.

Our excellent transition processes ensure you will settle in very quickly, allowing you to make a flying start.

We look forward to welcoming you to Fitzharrys School.
